A Chapter on the Cat.

The cat is perhaps responsible for as much profanity as any animal known to science. Its midnight song has scared many a sleep, and has caused the waste of so many boot picks, hair brushes, bottles and other improvised missiles, as to prove no small incentive to the manufacture of these articles. Under the circumstances, it is generally unpopular after the coming of the summer evenings. Nobody has a kind word for the creature, its good points are wholly forgotten, and all that is remembered is to its disadvantage; and this simply because its song of love is a musical, and is caroled at many houses. Its natural impulse to express its sentiments through the agency of song is interrupted by the noise of breaking bottles, its croaking is cut in two at its most thrilling cadence by pistol-shots, and when the melody has reached its highest power of expression, cold water is literally thrown upon it. But the cat, in spite of all this warfare, has clung upon the tender consideration of humanity. In common with the dog, it has become the companion of man, and has learned to trust him, and look up to him for a return of the sympathy and confidence it gives him. In the large majority of cases these sentiments are fully appreciated and reciprocated by the nobler animal, but in many others they are entirely ignored. Especially in the summer days, when people go out of town, they turn the cats they have domesticated into the streets to shift for themselves. The poor wretches, half-starved, their sleek skins dry and manky, their ribs protruding through their sides, may be seen in all directions, looking with pitiful expression into the faces of passers-by, as though confident in the average kindness of the human heart, but they expect that their mate's eloquent appeal would not fall unheeded. Words cannot be found to stematize with proper indignation the heartless brutality of those who would subject their animals to this fate.

Transportation of Fresh Fruits

From the San Francisco Alta, July 1.

A great deal of fruit is being shipped east from Sacramento. The amount is much larger than at this time last year. Among the shipments has been a carload of assorted fruit, put up in the Dietz packing recently patented process. The San Fran. Republican says that, the preservative agent is carbonized water, and that by it fresh fruit is preserved from decay, so that it can be shipped east by slow freight and sold off as the demand is made for it, without being compelled to sacrifice it for fear of loss. The carload shipped goes to Philadelphia. It contains grapes, plums, peaches, apricots, etc., and goes as fast freight, though hereafter it is planned to ship by slow freight, as it will reduce the charges over one-half, or from $1,100 to $500, a carload to New York. If fruit can be packed in this way and inexpensively, and preserved indefinitely and shipped anywhere, the business will develop wonderfully. Fresh peaches at Christmas and grapes at midwinter are very alluring, and Mr. Dietz says that they may be had by simply packing them in what is introduced to obviate what we shall see.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

For the cure of Consumption and other diseases of the lungs and the kidneys, the following treatment is recommended:

Take a glass of Frazier's Root Bitters, and add to it a glass of water, and drink it three times a day. It will be found to be a most effective remedy.

Cost of the medicine is 50 cents for a quart, and a quart will last a week. It is a good remedy for Consumption and other diseases of the lungs and kidneys.

THE Manitoba wave is the most popular institution of the day.

There's something curious about this train robbery business—it nearly always occurs in Missouri, and though "the James brothers" are popularly supposed to have a hand in all of them, they never yet have been caught. The police authorities of that state are certainly not hurt with efficiency.

As predicted in these columns a week ago, the nomination of Miller and Lapham for the vacant New York senatorships by the Republican caucus marked the beginning of the end of the long contest at Albany. Mr. Miller was elected for the long term on Saturday, and we confidently expect to hear of the election of Judge Lapham within the next day or two. The new senator, Hon. Warner Miller, resides at Herkimer, is 43 years of age, a graduate of Union college, was a member of the last congress and was re-elected last fall by a majority of 3,880 in a total vote of 36,698. He was a member of the New York assembly for two terms, and became quite prominent in the house. He has been an anti-Confederate man for years, and a bitter enemy of Cornell. He was a candidate for senator during the first stages of the present contest, but his name was dropped after a few ballots.

THE city of Cincinnati, by a tax levied upon the citizens, raised over $18,000,000, and built the Southern railroad. The papers there declare now that "its managers are discriminating against Cincinnati, and are charging relatively lower rates south than to the city," and that receipts of wheat over the line to Cincinnati have fallen off nearly two thirds since last year.

THE Chicago correspondent of the Illinois State Journal says: "It's awfully funny to hear the rantings of certain papers against the 'spoils system,' when these same papers have had official part directly or indirectly for from one to three representatives, for terms ranging from five to twenty-five years, and their signatures can be found attached to requests, recommendations and indorsements for full $300,000 more."

AT least Griscom has done for the tramps. The soft-hearted housekeeper who has been touched at the tramp's place of "two days without a morsel of food," and has set out the contents of the larder, will be able now to repulse the hungry loafer. Unless a tramp can show from his blood corpuscles that he has been six weeks without food he is entitled to nobody's sympathy.

THE surprise which is shown by some of the financial authorities of the country to the manner in which the money market sustained the shock of the president's assassination is perfectly natural, but the phenomenon is easily explained by the confidence which is felt by the financial world in Vice President Arthur and Secretary Windom. Where General Arthur is best known the most respect and confidence is felt him. It is only those who do not know him that have indulged in suspicion and displayed a lack of faith in his ability, integrity, and strength. For seven years he was thrown into an official intimacy with the men who control the great monetary center of this country, and none of them have whispered the slightest lack of confidence in his ability to assume the responsibilities which at one time it looked as if he would be called upon to share, and beyond this, as the New York Financial Gazette says:

"It is impossible that a change of administration would have materially affected business interests except so far as any change now would have been disquieting. Beyond a doubt the public has learned to place great confidence in President Garfield's administration. It there was nothing more than the admirable management of the finances by Secretary Windom to recommend it, that would be sufficient explanation for the satisfaction felt. Funding the entire overdue debt, after futile efforts of congress to provide the necessary machinery, and yet doing it in such a manner as to leave the bonds open for any future arrangement desired, but saving in the meantime from 1 to 2 percent. interest while preventing any contraction of bank currency or the least disturbance to the money market, is a consummation business circles can easily understand but cannot soon forget."

Fearful Destruction of Life by a Minnesota Storm.

WASHINGTON, July 18, 8:30 a.m.—The president has passed another comfortable night, and is doing well this morning. Pulse, 88; temperature, 98.7; respiration, 18.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The president is stronger than at any time since the reaction from the shock of the wound. He was more cheerful this afternoon, and did not complain of pain. He still suffers pain, but it is not so acute as it has been.

Mrs. Garfield was in the room with him nearly all day, fanning and sometimes talking a little with him. This afternoon was a very comfortable one for the president. He did not talk any, but remained easily and quietly in his bed. He took a little sleep at one time. He had his eyes closed, and appeared to be sleeping. Suddenly he opened them and said to Col. Rockwell, who was by his bed: "You thought I was asleep, but I was not." His breathing is perfectly free and easy. Mr. Crump, one of the regular nurses, said this morning that the president passed a most comfortable night. He had a good healthy sleep. He was not as restless when he awoke as heretofore; in fact, it was the night of a sick man on the happy road to recovery. This morning Mr. Crump squeezed a piece of steak over a piece of toast until the toast was thoroughly saturated, and gave it to the president. He ate heartily and with great relish. Shortly afterwards Mr. Crump brought up a piece of nice broiled tenderloin steak, and gave it to the president. The president ate and swallowed the whole piece of steak. He enjoyed it greatly. The president looks better and is more like himself than at any time since the wound was received. The president is doing so well that the surgeons have decided to issue only two bulletins daily, one in the morning and one in the evening, as each is a repetition of the good news.

At 9 o'clock to night a western associated press reporter found everything very quiet at the white house. There were no visitors, and as Dr. Reyburn passed in to the president the reporter asked him for information about the case. He said the evening bulletin told everything that could be said; that the president had passed a better day than any since he was shot. He was doing better than the doctors could have hoped for. He feels better, and now shows signs of gaining strength. At 10 o'clock the president was still sleeping soundly, and his temperature had already fallen below the record of the evening bulletin. He has shown a positive appetite to-day. He called for his food before the regular time for giving it to him, and the quantities hitherto allowed had to be increased to-day. A rubber drainage tube was substituted for one of bone that has been used, and it worked better as the wound discharged more freely. Only one cabinet officer, Postmaster General James, called at the white house to-day. The members of the cabinet are all busy at their respective departments, but receive regular bulletins from the president.

The New York to-day has an interview with District Attorney Corkhill, about Guiteau, in which he says: There never has been such an occurrence in this country since Lincoln was assassinated. In that case the assassin was doomed when captured. The trial was by military commission. There never has been such a thing in the history of the country as trial in the civil court of a man who attempted to assassinate a president. When Mr. Lincoln was assassinated, you will remember, Booth was killed by Boston Corbett. My mail, continued Corkhill, looking over a heap of letters and postal cards on his desk, is very large every day from all parts of the country, embracing suggestions from lawyers as to the method of trial, the suggestions of citizens as to what ought to be done, from persons giving notice that they have known Guiteau and relating instances of his life. There is anxiety all over the country to show the man up.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The president has continued to improve to-day, and his progress has been more marked than hitherto. His improvement is now visible to all around him. He is stronger, feels more cheerful, looks better and says he feels better. Mr. Crump, one of the regular nurses, said to night that the president grew stronger every day, that signs of returning health are visible in his eyes; they have something of the lively sparkle they had when he was in health. Crump says last night the president told him he was hungry, and intended to have a good breakfast this morning; but the president concluded to make out his breakfast bill of fare just then, and after thinking over it, he said: "Crump, I want for my breakfast in the morning two lamb chops. Now mind, I want two, two slices of bacon, one baked potato with cream and butter, and two of those light finger rolls." This was all served this morning, and he ate most of what he had ordered. For lunch at one o'clock this afternoon Crump says he squeezed all the substance from a large broiled tenderloin steak on toast, and the president ate it, and besides he ate quite a hearty supper. The president now has a good appetite, and is ready for each meal before the time for serving it. He has now no doubt of his recovery, and is satisfied it will come much earlier than is expected; that he will not have to lie on his back for months. This has the effect of making him hopeful and cheerful. To-day Crump said to him that he believed he (the president) would be sitting up to his breakfast next Sunday. "Do you really think so?" asked the president. "I do, indeed," replied Crump. "Well, I would not be surprised, judging from the way I feel now," said the president. Drs. Bliss and Reyburn left the White House together about 9 o'clock to-night. Dr. Bliss replied, when asked about the president, "He is doing splendidly, and that covers everything. He is decidedly better than at any time yet. His fever came on later this evening than at any previous day. He has a good appetite and relishes his food. He is gaining some strength and is beginning to be able to move himself about. He is cheerful and is getting well."

Dr. Bliss particularly mentioned the steady improvement of the wound, and said it could not be doing better. Today Bliss pressed on the stomach of the patient where the ball is believed to have passed, and started a flow of pus. The doctors say at least a wine glass full of pus started from the wound, an indication that the wound is open all along the track of the ball, and that it will begin healing from the inside. All the surgeons said to night that their highest hopes of the president's case had been reached to-night, and their confidence of his recovery is greater than ever before. Only one-eighth of a grain of morphine is given him every twenty-four hours. The fever to-day has been very slight, and he rests well, sleeping most of the time. Last night he enjoyed a good night's rest. His sleep was nearly unbroken, and at ten o'clock to night he was sleeping soundly and calmly. Very few persons visited the White House to-day. To-night the members of the cabinet called, but none of them stayed long.

KANSAS CITY, July 16.—Later particulars of the train robbery near Cameron say none of the passengers so far as could be learned were molested, and the sleeper was not even entered. After the robbery of the express messenger the men jumped from the car and escaped. They have not been captured at this writing, but the sheriff was immediately notified, and, with a party of sixty-five men went from Galatia to the scene of the robbery and murder and started in pursuit. There is strong probability of their capture. After the gang fled another man was found lying dead near. The opinion was that he was a stone cutter who tried to prevent the escape of the robbers and had been shot in the back. The robber was shot in the head, and the stone cutter was shot through the head, fell off the car also, and was found by the side of the dead conductor. When the robbers entered the express car Charles Murray, the messenger, was looking over some of his papers, and Frank Stampfer, the baggeman, was sitting in a chair near the open door. Both men were immediately covered with four revolvers, and when Murray objected to handing over the keys of the safe, he was knocked down. It is thought they got about $15,000 in silver, but the exact amount is not known. The United States express company handle all the express matter on the Rock Island road, and the train went out last night with what came in from the Atchison road, and also from Kansas City and points east as far as Harlem. After rifling the safe the robbers jumped on the train and escaped. The train went to the east side of the track, where it waited for the east bound passenger train, which took Westfall's body to Cameron. The sheriff was notified of the robbery as soon as possible, and he immediately started in pursuit with a posse of about sixty men, but at this writing no tidings have been received that he has overtaken the robbers. Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood of the robbery is much agitated over the event. J. R. Tread, express agent at Kansas City, said this morning that not much money went from Kansas City, but the impression seems to be that the robbers got several thousand dollars.

KANSAS CITY, July 12.—CHARLIE: I got your letter to-day and was glad to hear that you had got everything ready in time for the 15. We will be on hand at that time. Bill will be with us. We will be on the train. We will be in the smoker at Winston. Have the horses and boys in good fix for fast work. We will make this point again on the night of the 16. All is right here. Frank will meet us at Cameron. Look sharp and be well fixed. Have the horses well gaited for we may have some running to do. Don't get excited, but keep cool till night. Wilcox or Westfall will be on the engine. I think best to send this to Kidder. Yours, TIM, and through death sick.

The letter was found in the underbrush and bears evidence of having been carried for some days in the pocket. The people of Winston and vicinity who know the James boys and most of the comrades they have had in the past, say they have no doubt this was one of the same lot.

ST. PAUL, July 16.—Later reports from the storm which devastated Fairfield show that it was the most terrible storm that ever visited this section or before known in Minnesota. It commenced in Dakota and the southwest, and swept a strip of country one mile wide and forty long, going in a northeasterly direction. It crossed the Hastings and Dakota road at Odessa, near Orlaville. Here four buildings were demolished. Then it swept the four houses along its course for thirty miles, increasing in fury as it went. Houses, barns and farm machinery were strewn in all directions, and stock killed by the wholesale. Fairfield, situated ten miles north of Appleton, was in the track of the cyclone, and nothing but the stone foundations of the buildings were left to show where the village stood. About fifteen people were killed and wounded. Some were not recovered until the following morning, having been carried half a mile away. People are left in the most pitiable plight, without shelter of any kind. Their clothing and their household goods are irretrievably lost.

The Pioneer Press, special, via St. Peter, says the track of the cyclone was a scene of awful grandeur during the storm and an appalling wreck after it, while the troubled air was full of debris and weirdly lit up by balls of electric fluid. Everybody is wild with excitement, and it is almost impossible to get a correct statement of the catastrophe or damage done.

ST. PAUL, July 17.—The Pioneer Press to-night received the following special from New Ulm, via Mankato: The people of New Ulm are organizing for the work that is before them, and will be prepared to rebuild their city to-morrow. Workmen from St. Paul, St. Peter and Mankato are on hand, and things are beginning to assume some system. The governor's guards are on duty protecting property. Large crowds visited the scene of the disaster to-day, and a special train from Redwood Falls was run. The following is a partial list of the killed and wounded, and also the estimated losses of the principal losers:

The killed in New Ulm—Laura Reitz, Anna Warner, Anna Leisch, M. Eggart. The wounded—Mrs. Warner, struck by lightning. She was lying on the floor with a small babe which was killed. The bolt struck her on the breast and extended to her feet, leaving the body as black as a coal. She cannot remember any event in her life anterior to the time she was struck, and will probably die. Mrs. Reitz, left arm broken twice. Ida Leisch, left leg broken. A Swede boy, name unknown, badly wounded in the neck and head. Mrs. Leisch, skull fractured and internal injuries, probably fatal. Mr. Pliffer's wife and child, hurt in the head. Two children in the same house, internal injuries, possibly fatal. Mr. Hoffman's two sons, injuries in the head and back. Henry Fidler, compound fractures of the left thigh and arm. Chas. Spooner, hole in the jaw.

The Methodist, Lutheran and Congregational churches are entirely demolished; losses ranging from $2,000 to $4,000. These are the largest losses, but is more or less damaged. In the majority of cases the roofs, chimneys and window glass are gone, in five involving from $100 to $500, and in many other cases the buildings have been put out of plumb. It can be safely said that $25,000 to $30,000 would not put the town back where it was.

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—A Post Dispatch special from Kansas City gives a few additional particulars of the train robbery near Winston, last night. Two of the robbers got on the front end of the baggage car, next to the engine, three more in the smoker, and two on the platform between the baggage car and the smoker.

It is a scientific preparation, admirably adapted for the cure of all throat and lung diseases. It is pleasant to take and entirely harmless.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

BABY CARRIAGES, an elegant assortment, very cheap to make room for other goods, at E. D. BARTHOLOMEW & Co's. Eat gingerly of unripe fruit. It was a splendid night for sleeping. The Manitoba wave struck us at last. The Good Templars will meet to-night. The Quincy tournament is slowly drawing near.

The high school building is to have a new chimney roof.

Order the Palace Hotel carriage for the depot. It connects with all trains.

The library rooms Saturday evening were crowded with visitors.

There were nearly 40 buggies and carriages at the driving track last evening. It was fine weather for pleasure driving.

Pom-draggs and a full line of patent medicines at W. C. Armstrong's, corner of Old Square and East Main streets.

One of Forepaugh's under circus men was shot and killed at Dubuque, Iowa, last week by a constable.

Call for Schroeder's celebrated nickel Bohemian and you will always get a good smoke.

The break at Albany occasioned much incidental advertising, but at large cost. Barnum has lost a valuable car by fire. Coup has had a train wrecked, Cole's tents were shredded by a whirlwind, and Forepaugh's elephants killed a valuable trained horse.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Chicago Tribune of the 17th, says there were no less than ten brides at the Thousand Island House, at Alexander Bay, N. Y., on the 14th inst. Mr. O. E. Curtis and bride, of Decatur, Ill., were there for several days.

"And they laughed him to scorn," is what one of the cheap editions of the Revised Version says, where with more careful proof reading it would have read: "And they laughed him to scorn."

Patric started in the five furlongs race for all ages at Saratoga on Saturday last, and sold first in the pools. Owing to an accident she lost the race and came in fifth.

Visiting Divines.

Elder Tanner, of Ohio, filled his appointment at the Christian Church on Sunday and delivered two excellent sermons to good congregations.

At the Baptist Church on Sunday Rev. M. L. Laws, of Pough, Mo., general agent for the Missouri State Sabbath School Association, occupied the pulpit morning and evening. The subject of Rev. Laws' sermon last evening was "God's Love," which engaged the undivided attention of a large congregation.

The reverend gentleman has a splendid delivery, a fine command of language, and is quite popular in all his utterances.

From the expressions of those who heard the sermon last evening we are led to believe that Rev. Laws will probably receive a unanimous call to become the pastor of the Baptist Church here. He is a dignified, intellectual appearing gentleman, on the sunny side of forty.

Located at Saginaw City.

Doctor Jameson, son-in-law of Deacon Wood, of this city, who was expected to become the pastor of the Baptist church here, has located at Saginaw City, Mich.

The following is from the Standard of the 11th inst.:

Rev. Dr. E. H. E. Jameson, as noted by our Michigan correspondent this week, accepts the call of the First Baptist Church of Saginaw City, in that state. He closes his work in Nebraska on the 15th of the present month and removes at once to his new field. In a note just received he says: "Saginaw seems to be an interesting and important field. The church, though not large, numerically, is rather strong, financially and socially. The brethren own an excellent house of worship, an elegant parsonage and a good mission house. They promise to stand by me in earnest and progressive work for the Master."

Bind in the Hospital.

For some time past Miss Katie Buckley, daughter of the Widow Buckley, has been receiving medical treatment for consumption at St. Mary's Hospital. The Sunday morning she died, in the 21st year of her age. This forenoon the funeral took place from St. Patrick's Catholic church, Rev. Father Mackin officiating.

A Remedy for Lockjaw.

Those parents who permit their young hopefuls to toy with those innocent looking "toy" pistols, will do well to cut this out and paste it up ready for use in case of accidents. It is furnished by a correspondent of the Scientific American, and is no doubt reliable: "Let any one who has an attack of lockjaw take a small quantity of turpentine, warm it and pour it on the wound, no matter where the wound is, and relief will follow in less than a minute. Nothing better can be applied to a severe cut or bruise than cold turpentine; it will give certain relief, most instantly. Turpentine is almost a sovereign remedy for cramp. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place the flannel on the throat and chest, and in every case three or four drops on a lump of sugar may be taken inwardly. Every family should have a bottle on hand."

A GERMAN farm hand whose name is given as Joseph Wall, while at work in a field near Harrisonburg on Saturday afternoon, was prostrated by the intense heat and died soon after he was stricken down. The funeral took place on Sunday. This is the first and only fatal case of sunstroke we have been called upon to chronicle in this country this year. The deceased lately arrived here from Germany.

And now the wags of Maroa are calling one of their citizens "Seth T. T. Crowell, chairman, etc." Such is fate. All because he noticed Mr. Kendrick that he wasn't expected to orate at Maroa on the 4th. The whereabouts of Mr. K. are at present unknown, but he may possibly return to the city before the leaves begin to turn.

VENOR missed it yesterday. He predicted that Sunday would be a scorching hot day, but it wasn't. The rain which began to fall at 9 o'clock cooled the heated atmosphere completely, to the great satisfaction of coupon clippers and mechanician who hungered for a pleasant day of rest, such as it proved to be.

THE MORTALITY among the Polish children in the fifth ward is somewhat alarming. Five have died within the past week; one was buried on Saturday evening, and another this forenoon. So far as known no contagious disease exists among the families.

The circuses of late have gained some incidental advertising, but at large cost. Barnum has lost a valuable car by fire. Coup has had a train wrecked, Cole's tents were shredded by a whirlwind, and Forepaugh's elephants killed a valuable trained horse.

DECATUR COAL.

A Short Visit to the Shaft this Morning—$2.50 is the Price per Ton.

This forenoon in company with Cyrus Randolph, who drove his easy-going steamer "Lightfoot," a REPUBLICAN representative visited the Decatur coal shaft, and arrived there just in time to witness the descent of the day force of jolly miners into the dark hole, which, including the "ump," is now 638 feet deep. The miners' caps were decorated with little lamps burning brightly, which serve to illuminate the mine as they dig out the diamonds and dump them into the buckets, ready to be pulled up and emptied out upon the ground a few yards west of the shaft. On yesterday evening the miners commenced working by the piece or yard, and 12 men are at work in the mine during each day and night. The miners receive $1 and $1 per yard for working in the mine. They have taken out coal for a distance of 20 feet on the east and west sides of the shaft, and there is now an immense heap of coal, in large and small chunks, on the ground near the top of the shaft, for sale at $2.50 per ton. The miners are now taking out the coal preparatory to getting the vein in proper shape for more expeditious operations in the near future, and all is being done under the direction of Superintendent White, who is more pleased with the quality of the coal that has been found in such paying quantities. The company has sent to Chicago for the seasoned timber for the permanent tower to be built over the shaft, and as soon as it arrives the tower and substructure will be erected, when the mine will be in full operation and the company will have all needful facilities for furnishing coal in large quantities for home and foreign use.

The shaft already presents an animated and healthy appearance, and cannot fail to attract the attention of travelers passing through the city on the Wabash and I. D. & S. trains.

Goodwin on Galilee.

A congregation numbering about 600 people was present at the First M. E. church on Sunday evening to hear Doctor Goodwin's proposed sermon on the attempted assassination of President Garfield. In the outset the Doctor referred pointedly to a recent attack that had been made by a local journal on emotional religion which was denounced by the writer, and said, the Lord willing, he would have something to say about that matter from his pulpit on next Sunday evening. The Doctor dwelt at some length upon the life and character of the President, and denounced Quicke as a cowardly, drunken fool, who was undoubtedly disappointed in not procuring an appointment, and sought notoriety when he fired the shots which aroused the indignation of all civilized people. It was not a blow at a single individual—it was a stab at the whole people and as such it was received. The effect was that of a madman, who had method in his madness—which was to be revenged for fancied or real slights and to make himself famous. Fortunately the President is on the road to recovery and health, and the people who but a short time since were angry with each other on political matters, are now more permanently united than ever before, and there is now more peace and brotherly love in the land. The speaker presented many good lessons drawn from the different alleged causes of the assault which were in the main logical and pertinent.

A Decatur Boy Dead.

On Sunday forenoon a telegram reached this city conveying the sad intelligence that Willie Kepley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kepley, had fallen from a train on the Chicago & Alton railroad at Bradwood, 50 miles south of Chicago, early Sunday morning, and had received injuries that resulted in his death. No further particulars have since been obtained. This morning a telegram was received by Mr. Kepley stating that it was impossible to keep the body, and it had been interred. Mr. Kepley telegraphed yesterday to have the body sent here, but being Sunday the message was delayed in transit at some point between St. Louis and Bradwood, and no answer could be obtained. The body will doubtless be brought here and laid at rest in Greenwood cemetery. Willie, who was 15 years of age last February, left Decatur last Friday evening on stock train bound northward, over the Chicago division of the Wabash, and was accompanied by "Dutch" Holland and "Cash" Faunce. It is thought they had reached Chicago and were on their way home in a round about way when Willie met his death.

The Captain's Card.

Captain Conover, of the Maroa Cadets, who went to Springfield with the officers of the Decatur Battalion, was present at the election of Capt. C. M. Durfee as Major of the 5th Regiment, I. N. G., dined with 20 other officers at the residence of Col. Barkley and called on Gov. Callum the same day, publishes the following card in last week's Maroa News:

I desire to return my sincere thanks to Col. Barkley and wife, of Springfield, for their kind hospitality. Also to the officers and members of the Decatur Guards and Rifle Co's and other officers of the 5th Regiment for favors received.

W. H. CONOVER.

The Wabash on Top.

This is the way the Wabash gets to the front. Its managers made the following announcement in the St. Louis papers of Saturday and Sunday:

Commencing Monday, July 18th, the Wabash will put on a line of elegant palace sleeping cars and run them through to New York City via the cool northern lake route, landing the passengers in the Grand Central Depot at 42d Street without change. The Wabash is the acknowledged "boss summer line." Take it and enjoy the cool breezes from the northern lakes while en route.

The first through sleeper will pass through Decatur to New York to-night.
